THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1886

SAVE YOUR MONEY.

In Chicago a club of one hundred laboring men has been organized, the members of which are pledged to save one-tenth of their wages. This, says the San Francisco Alta, is an idea that will spread. The labor unions have heretofore spent their energies in fighting for the rate of wages, but no matter what the rate if the surplus above the cost of living is saved no good has been accomplished. One-tenth is a modest amount to save, for it is estimated that with wages and the cost of living rightly adjusted, three-tenths should be saved. We know laboring men in California who get $50 a month, support a family of four people comfortably and save $20 a month. That is a saving of forty per cent., and in one year it will nearly pay for twenty acres of rich land in the San Joaquin, the ownership of which means independence. We have animated upon the frequent unwisdom of labor strikes that are not upon the question of wages. We believe, sincerely, that a better understanding should come between labor and the active capital which is its only employer. This is more in the interest of labor than of capital, for capital even at a loss can withdraw itself to investment in paper securities, while labor that has saved nothing to buy tools or land is left stranded and helpless. The ownership of land is the prize that should be set before every laborer to stimulate his ambition and promote his economy and frugality and thrift. It is said that in the street-car strikes of this Spring in New York the treasuries of labor organizations spent $120,000 in supporting idleness men who were ordered to strike to compel the discharge of non-Union fellow-workmen. That vast sum of money represented the savings of labor put into the Union Treasury instead of savings banks. It was a co-operative fund. Suppose it had been used to buy twenty-acre lots in the San Joaquin Valley for those workmen. It would have paid for homes for 480 families. Instead of striking, suppose the land had been bought after prudent investigation, and all the contributors to the fund had met to decide by lot the lucky 480 men who should draw the prize of independent rural life in California, would not the result have far transcended what was accomplished in the interest of labor by the strike which sunk and wasted all that money? Demagogues who want office by the votes of laboring men, never suggest these considerations, they never turn the labor of the country toward the independence which it earns and squanders in strikes over and over again. They deliberately make bid blood between labor and active capital, get their office, and labor gets idleness and its temptation to mischief.

The process which we suggest, is the means of a desirable withdrawal of men from dependence on the wages of labor to the independence of rural life, for the benefit of those who leave the ranks and of those who remain.

Some time ago Congress passed a bill for the relief of Captain Lees and Detective Ellis, who broke up the whisky ring in San Francisco eighteen years ago. They have been trying to get paid their share of the $43,000 seizure ever since, but never before succeeded in getting their claim recognized. When the President came to consider the bill he found that $800 had already been paid to Lees and Ellis, but on being assured that they would consent to deduct that amount and take the balance, which is about $10,000, he signed the bill.

A QUEER PICTURE.—Laycock, the Reno artist, has painted a picture called "Crossing the River." It represents U. S. Grant just stepping out of a boat and being greeted by Garfield, Lincoln, Washington, etc., on the Heavenly shore. The group of departed great men are all in swallow-tailed coats, surrounded by angels in white wings, and waving palms.

Doubtless the artist intended to pay a tribute to the dead but in so doing he put together an incongruous mixture of commonplace with the ideal. Angels with white wings do not go with men in black dress coats.—Carson Appeal.

CAN SUCH THINGS BE?

A Democrat Who Is Tired of Holding a Fat Office.

New York, June 29.—The World's Albany special says: Among the best-informed politicians here it has been known for a long time that Secretary Manning has been using every honorable means for six months to retire from the Cabinet. To his most intimate friends the Secretary has made complaint that instead of finding the Treasury Department a field for great executive work, it has proven to be for him simply a clerical position whose most important and trying exaction was signing his own name. Six months of this irksome and annoying place has convinced the Secretary that his sphere of usefulness was circumscribed, as the President has determined to follow Jackson's policy and reduce his Cabinet officers to the level of mere clerks.

One of Manning's most intimate friends said this evening: "Manning will retire from the Cabinet October 1st, whether his health is improved or not. He went into the Cabinet against his own judgment. Cleveland would never have appointed him had not Tilden ordered him to do so, nor would Manning have accepted the position had it not been at Tilden's request. Secretary Manning has been forced to explain to his friends who had wanted favors done that he was tired asking the President to render some service to his party. Within a month I have seen a letter conveying this impression. Manning's policy from the first has been to reward party men, but every approach toward the President on that head has been met with coolness, discouragement and positive indifference."

Frauds in the Customs.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—John Grant and Fred Brand were arrested last night by John T. Fogarty, Collector Hager's secretary, as they were leaving the house, on Brannan street, of Mrs. Mary Slicer, one of the lady inspectors of the Custom-house. The men carried a valise, in which was carried forty cans of opium, worth about $500. It is stated that Mrs. Slicer, who is a widow with four children, has been in the habit of concealing opium in her clothing and carrying it ashore from different vessels, and disposing of it through the men arrested. Extraordinary developments are expected.

Mrs. Slicer was suspended this afternoon from the Customs service and arrested on a warrant sworn to by Surveyor Tinnin, the bail being set at $1,000. Grant and Brand were taken before United States Commissioner Sawyer and held to answer. Grant furnished bonds, but Brand was unable to do likewise. Mrs. Alice Griffin, stewardess of the steamship Gaelic, was also arrested this afternoon on a charge of being concerned in smuggling opium with the others previously arrested to-day.

Why Peck Was Not Killed.

CALABASAS, June 29.—A. L. Peck returned from Magdalena yesterday, where his niece, who was captured from the Apaches, now is. From her he learned the reason of his escape from death when the Apaches captured him. She says that there is a renegade Mexican with the Apaches, who worked for Peck when Peck was working at the Minas Prietas in Sonora. It was through his intercession that Peck's life was saved. This renegade told Peck's niece that if he had known that the woman who was murdered was Peck's wife, her life would have been spared as his had been. The recaptured girl says that Geronimo is wounded in the shoulder, but not very badly. He and nine bucks left the camp where she was captured about two days before.

Professor Royce, whose history of California has so stirred the pioneers, has now gone into the ghost business. He is Chairman of the Committee on Apparitions and Haunted Houses of the Society for Psychical Research. Any persons who sport family ghosts, or have personal knowledge of such subjects, are requested to send on an account of their experiences.—Post.

The Enterprise is plainly not a Fair paper this year. Its articles go to show that Fair is not a fit man for the position, and as it is a well known fact that Mackay is one of the principal owners of that paper, it shows that the Democrats around here and elsewhere have been lying a little when they asserted that Mackay would help re-elect Fair.—Lyon Co. Times.

THURMAN AND THE PACIFIC ROADS.

He Favors the Funding Bill Now Before Congress.

Interviewed last week by the Cincinnati Enquirer, Judge Thurman said: "The great point in the original Funding Act, known generally as the Thurman Act, was to assert the right of the Government to control and regulate the subsidized roads under the clause which empowered Congress to 'amend, alter or repeal' their charters. This was secured in the passage of the Funding Act, and the Supreme Court sustained its constitutionality, thus saving and establishing the rights of the Government in the premises.

"Mr. Blaine offered an amendment to the Funding bill, to surrender the right of the Government to 'amend, alter or repeal,' but I said I would sooner see all the money the Government had put into the roads sunk in the bottom of the Atlantic ocean than that it should surrender its sovereignty over them. In surrendering it everything would have been lost; in asserting and maintaining it all the rights of the Government and the people have been saved. Now it is a mere matter of business and mathematical calculation to arrange for the reimbursement of the Government by the railroad companies. I do not think that I can be accused of partiality for these corporations, but I will say that there will be neither wisdom nor statesmanship in endeavoring to impose unjust exactions upon the companies in arranging for the liquidation of their indebtedness to the Government. It should be done in a business-like and fair way, which would not impose onerous burdens upon the one or entail loss, or danger of loss, upon the other. That is all there is in the question as it now stands.

"I have not read the Outhwaite bill in its details, but am generally informed as to the nature of its provisions. They impress me favorably. They strike me as being fair, just and reasonable to all parties. The matter of the time of payment is of little consequence compared with the fact of the certainty that the Government is to be reimbursed. If the Government receives amount in interest equal to what it paid upon its own loans and the principal in regular and fixed installments, a few years more or less make but little difference. Therefore, with a general knowledge of the provisions of the bill, I regard it as satisfactory, and just alike to the Government and the companies."

"Suppose that no such a business arrangement as proposed is perfected prior to the maturity of the bonds, what then?"

"The road would be sold upon the first mortgage, and the Government lose everything."

"But could not the Government buy the roads, paying the first mortgage, and hold them?"

"Certainly, certainly; but I don't think that any good Democrat, at least, wants the Government to become the owner of the subsidized roads, with a new lot of patronage, such as agents, conductors, superintendents, officers of all kinds and employees by the thousand, placed in the hands of the Administration. That would not be wise, and therefore not Democratic. What we want is legislation that will secure the Government and the people without making the Government the owner and operator of railroads."

"Is the pending bill at variance with the principle of the original Thurman Act?"

"Not in any sense. The original scheme of funding failed because of the withdrawal of the Government funds and the immense and unexpected premium on the four-and-a-halfs and fours. After this it only remained for Congress to devise a plan and perfect legislation to secure the result made possible by establishing the principle of Government control. That is what is aimed at by the present bill. It is a plain proposition to secure the reimbursement of the Government, and should be considered and acted upon as such."

"The original Act merely establishes the right of the Government to secure and reimburse itself. The Funding Act is but a part of the details made necessary by the causes and circumstances I have enumerated."

UNFAIR CRITICISM.—The following squib from the Sacramento Bee appeared in the columns of the JOURNAL this morning:

"In a speech at Reno the other evening, ex-Senator Stewart, who wants to succeed Fair, said that a boy raised in Nevada is worth two raised in Sacramento Valley." Stewart may not have much of a sack, but his supply of blarney is likely to hold out for all demands of the campaign."

Whether or not Mr. S. made the remarks, most assuredly blarney does not apply to him. In an acquaintance of over thirty years this writer never heard of his going back on a friend or not fulfilling a promise made, and most certainly he must be credited with fealty to party. When in the U. S. Senate he never failed to answer a communication from a constituent, let him be rich or poor, and in that regard will surely do to tie to.—Carson Tribune.
